RICH ASIA MINOR PROVINCE

Smyrna, Blessed With a Fertile Soil and Temperate Climate, is Pleasant Dwelling Place.

The modern province of Smyrna is the most favored of all the provinces of Asia Minor. It contains three of the most considerable rivers of the country, including the Meander, whose serpentine course has given the Engfish language an expressive verb. Fertile soil and temperate climate have added to the region's attractions, while the possession of a port and city-the city of Smyrna-unequaled by any other in Asia Minor has contributed another immeasurably important asset. Though imperfectly tilled during its control by Turkey, the province of Smyrna has nevertheless been noted for its fine fruits. For a long time it has furnished the best figs and raisins which reach the markets of Eu-

Poets and travelers have sung and told of the beauties of the city of Smyrna throughout the ages. The nucleus nestles in the lowlands about its harbor, and behind, the city rises tier above tier against the neighboring highlands. Unlike many cities that have survived for long ages, Smyrna has retained the same name from the dawn of history. This city should be dear to the heart of the modern feminist, for it took its name from an Amazon who is reputed to have played an important part in its early life.-National Geographic Society Bulletin.

FORTUNE AWAITS LUCKY ONES

Prospecting for Radium in Madagas car Is Latest Lure Held Out to the Enterprising.

The exciting days of prospecting in Cripple Creek or Alaska may be over, but anyone who is looking for experi ence and is willing to suffer a few discomforts for the chance of gaining a fortune can do so in Madagascar, according to Secretary LaCroix of the French Academy of Science, who has completed an exhaustive study of radium-bearing deposits there,

M. LaCroix says that millions probably are there awaiting to reward the patient searchers who are able to start out with the proverbial shoe string as far as finances are concerned, but it is recommended that intending prospectors take along a few camera dry plates, developing outfits and, if possible, a gold leaf electroscope, although the latter is not absolutely essential. The principal radioactive mineral in Madagascar is known as betaphite and is brownish-black in color with fregular radium content. But even if only one milligram is obtained from each ton of mineral examined, it will mean 200 francs to the prospector, while certain deposits are so rich as to assay as high as 15,000 francs a

Patching the Czar's Trousers. In his recently published memoirs

Count Witte, a member of the old Russian regime, relates that Alexander III's prudence in government expenditure was matched by his personal thrift: "Alexander III was extremely economical with his wearing apparel I had a curious proof of this when I accompanied the emperor on one of his railway trips. Since I found it impossible, on account of my responsibillty, to sleep of nights, I would often catch glimpses of his majesty's valet mending the emperor's trousers. On one occasion I asked him why he didn't give his master a new pair instead of mending the old so often. Well, I would rather have it that way,' he answered, 'but his majesty won't let me. He insists on wearing his garments until they are threadbare. It is the same with his boots."

Huge Stone in Roosevelt's Honor. The greatest chunk of stone ever quarried or transported in the United States or anywhere else on earth is going to be hewn and brought to Washington for the monumental Theodore Roosevelt national memorial. The memorial is to take the form of a Hon, some 36 by 40 feet in dimensions, and it is to be carved by Carl Ethan Akeley out of a solid block of rock,

Where the stone is to come from ap pears not yet to be determined. One authority suggests it may be necessary to build a special railroad and equipment to bring it to Washington. The memorial will be the biggest job in stone, it is said, since the sphinxes were set up on the plains of Egypt,-Philadeiphia Public Ledger.

Floats for Boats.

S. E. Van Horn of Manhasset, N Y., is the inventor of a scheme for making boats unsinkable. The safety boat is provided with a couple of um brellas of rubberized fabric, one on the port and the other on the starboard side, attached to the gunwale by a sort of outrigger.

When not in use the umbrellas are collapsed and take up little room, the outriggers being swung alongside of the craft, out of the way. But in case of danger the outriggers are hastily swung outward into position, the umbrellas spreading automatically.

"What's the trouble?" asked the sec ond assistant sporting editor.

BREEZY WASHINGTON LETTER

(By Gen. I. R. Sherwood) D. C., March 7. Now that President Harding's inaugural oration has gone into printers ink, we are enabled to scrutinize it, without the spectacular environment. It was deivered before some 60,000 people (including 7:500 soldiers) to the pomp and pride of the nation. It is a fine oration from a literary stand point and was forcibly delivered. It will rank as a first class state paper; but it is not an instructive message to the American people. It is only intelli-gently specific on one point, a protective tariff. The balance is elequent generalizations. The address of Vice-President Coolighe was a fine effort as it reads, but the voice of the Vice-President has a nasal twang, that is, he talks through his nose, which is not pleas-ant. He is alert minded, experience, and dignified and will make an admirsenate. Both senate and house are now presided over by gentlemen that Brand Whitlock, Minister to Belgium, desires to retain his high and valuable perch under the Harding administration. His friends are now busy here in his behalf. From all I can learn, however, that is too important a place to be held by a mere book writer and philosophical idealist. You know that all the 630,000 Begiums who live in historic and artistic Brussels (the capital), speak French. French is the court language. Whitlock will be supplanted by some money fat republican of portentious presence, who will agree to learn enough French to read the bill of fare. The title, "ambassador and minister plentipotentiary" is very fascinating, salary $17,500, all for dress parade.

Let me repeat, in conclusion, what my good friend from Pennsylvania, the Hon. Warren Worth Bailey, sends; "Woodrow Wilson belongs to the past. Wilsonism is with us yet. It is the talk of the town that Ohio will not only have the president and a prominent cabinet minister, but will also get a hog's share of the big paying offices about to be handed out by the president. Ohio has not admitted into the sisterhood of states until after Virginia had furnished two Presidents, George Washington and Thomas Jefferson, but since 1802 Ohio has nished seven Presidents, five of them distinguished soldiers, or one more than Virginia, hence we are entitled to be classed as the Mother of Presidents. day evening with S. And President Wilson is not to be classed as a real Jeffersonian Democrat. When he was writing history before he even thought seriously of the white house, he gave his views of Jefferson as a statesman. The student of American history will remember that when Washington made Jefferson his Secretary of State, Jefferson was in France. Washington was first inaugurated President, April 30, 1789. Jefferson did not arrive in the United States from France until March 31, 1790. Woodrow Wilson in his history, page 289, вауя:

in 1789 a philosophical radical, rather than a statesman. Washington found him a guide who needed watching." Woodrow Wilson has written some very interesting history. As a phrase maker he is the peer of any rhetorician in the language. timate of Jefferson has never approved by any recognized historian in over a century. And President Wil son's statistics are not correct. Jef-ferson did not return from France in 1790 but in 1788. And there is no authority worth quoting outside of Wilson that Washington found Jefferson a guide who needed watching. All history regards Jefferson as the foremost statesman of the revolutionary epoch. Here is what Jefferson says about a standing army in time of peace: In 1799 Jefferson wrote to Edridge Gerry these words of supreme wisdom that every patriotic American should pause and ponder well; I quote; "I am for relying for internal defence on our militia solely till actual invasion and for such a naval force only as will protect our coast harbors from depredations, and not for a standing army in time of peace which may overcome the public sentiment; nor a navy which by its own expense and the external wars in which it may implicate us will grind us with public burdens and sink us under them

Let us not fail to note that all the great students and scholars and humaniturians on both sides of the Atlanable presiding officer of our august tic are to-day for peace and arbitration. No man of heart of capable thought believes that a big navy and army are messengers of peace. Even The funeral of Champ Clark in the an ordinary dog fancier knows better. House of Representatives on Saturday | He knows that peace among the canine tribe would never be promoted if every man should breed and train a since Lincoln. Champ Clark was uni- fighting buildog. And the dogs of war, whether canine or human, are just the same.
